

The Yankees - The Best Team money can buy in Question!

The New York Yankees, the Bronx Bombers, the best team money can buy in the Major Leagues, as history stands. With the departure of Juan Soto, what is in store for the Yankees and their talent?

In my opinion, along with many NY fans, the talent on the team is great, for now! Aaron Judge, at age 33, is still the team leading slugger, along with Giancarlo Stanton, at age 35. Their Ace Gerrit Cole, age 34, is pitching in his prime. The question is, how long does this team have with its current star talented roster?

The Bronx Bombers proposed a massive contract to the mega-talented outfielder, Juan Soto. Many Bronx fans were hopeful Soto would keep playing with the Yankees to keep age and longevity going.

Many Yankees fans worry that without a World Series Championship in the very close future, what is to become of the team called, "The best team money can buy?" It's on the thoughts of fans like myself, along with the players, and not to mention Yankee Global Enterprises & Owners.

The Yankees have won 27 Championships, more than any other franchise in major league history. However, they have not raised the World Series Trophy since 2009. The Bronx Bomber fanbase is spoiled, and is hungry for another World Series. Soto will be heading to the Yankees cross-town rivals, the NY Mets in Queens.

With Soto leaving the Bronx, the roster needs younger talent to sustain its future seasons, not to maintain its longtime reputation! The stock on the best team money can buy may not be the best for too long!
